"Now that the house is quiet, I want to talk to you." said Betty, determined to warn Ann about Harwood."

CHAPTER XXV.

Ann was dazzled by the attention paid to her by the mysterious woman after Harwood's invitation for all of them to go cruising in Harwood's yacht. The mysterious woman acquaintance of Ann was getting desperate. She did not want to do the things Harwood insisted she should in regard to Ann, but she should in regard to Ann, but she was penniless except for the money Harwood gave her. Her one longing was to get out of it all and back to her home in the Middle West, where she could forget the past. She liked Ann and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her as far as she could. But, also, she liked and had resolved to protect her and was in Harwood's big dading.

If they all went on the cruise in Harwood's had resolved to watch over Ann and trust to for the and never taken the time to figure out why Harwood should be taking this sudden interest in him and his family, and was to slow in the ways of the world to should be taking this sudden interest in him anything he wished. Harwood had promised her that if should be taking this sudden interest in him anything he wished. Harwood had promised her that if should be taking this sudden interest in him anything he wished. Harwood had promised her that if should be taking this was all about.

Betty was different, however. She resolved to put a stop to Harwood's big vould do it. She and Ann shared the same room, and as they went to bed that night Betty said to Ann, "Now that the house is all quiet, I want to tell you a few facts."

Moving Pictures

Strand.

Admirers of Roscoe Arbuckle, the portive comedian, enjoyed a rare treat when he was presented in his first feature play, "The Round Up," a Paramount picture produced by George Melford, at the Strand theater Monday, "The Round Up" is a capital story of the Southwest and there are thrills aplenty in the action. The scenes are laid in Apache land and in the development of the plot, Indians, renegades, frontiersmen and young women are employed in vast variety. The theme is one of self-sacrifice and as a result the climaxes are highly dramatic. It is safe to say that Mr. Arbuckle as the sheriff does some of the most of self-sacrifice and as a result the climaxes are highly dramatic. It is safe to say that Mr. Arbuckle as the sheriff does some of the most of self-sacrifice and self-sacri the sheriff does some of the most effective work of his screen career, and his complaint that 'nobody loves a fat man," Insofar as he is personally concerned, is a fallacy.

Ray Marsh's jazz band, the added feature, brought the house down at every performance.

Majestic.

As the most famous and richest woman in Monte Carlo, Katherine Mac-Donald, whose past motion picture successes and feminine charms have earned her the title of "the American beauty," is seen in "Passion's Playground, adapted from the world-famous story, "The Guests of Hercules, by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, and which will be shown at the Majestic theater Tuesand Wednesday.

Princess.

Let's Be Fashionable," featuring Douglas MacLean and Doris May, at the Princess Wednesday and Thurseday, is the story of an attractive young married nair of limited means who try, with laughable results, to keep in with a fast society crowd at a stimmer resort. In the end, they agree that it is better to be happy than fashionable. with laughable results to keep up with a fast society crowd at a summer resort. BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, re-cently gave out the following state-ment regarding gray hair: ment regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good-cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"when someone guesses your age at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: mence at once to restore your energy, "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and ous, mentally alert, line and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make an heroiceffort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.
